What will happen when I call Health Assured?

A qualified counsellor or legal advisor will answer. If it's your first call, they'll ask for the name of your College or University, and your contact details. Health Assured use this information to get you set up and ready on their system.

If you've called before, they'll ask some security questions. These are simple—your date of birth, or postcode. Data security is important, so you must answer these correctly to continue.

They'll ask what your call relates to. This is to make sure you get the right support, as quickly as possible. If a counsellor answers, and you need legal advice, they will transfer you to an advisor and vice versa. In the unlikely event that the appropriate counsellor or advisor is unavailable, they'll arrange a call-back at the best time for you.

What does a Health Assured counselling call look like?

Health Assured counsellors use a proactive approach to supporting you. They will provide you with space and time to talk about your concerns and provide guidance and mindfulness techniques that will help you in the present.

A few simple changes are often enough to make a world of difference. The counsellors may suggest useful resources that will help you to make those changes - you may feel that this is enough. At the end of the call, the counsellor will also explain the options available to you moving forward.

You can choose to simply call back, if you want to talk again.

Counsellors are available 24/7, 365.

What does a Health Assured advisory call look like?

Health Assured advisors have the same proactive approach as the counsellors. They're experts in legal processes, obligations and liabilities. They'll listen to your issues, and offer guidance on the best way to proceed.

While the advisors aim to resolve your issues in-house, sometimes they'll need to direct you to other resources. This is so you can be sure you're receiving the most appropriate advice.

Why are my details taken?

The SAP is confidential. In order to provide the best service, however, counsellors and advisors will ask for a few details. They'll need your name, address, contact number and date of birth. They'll also ask if it's okay to leave a voicemail, or send you an SMS—it's fine to say no to these.

Health Assured treat your data with total confidence. All employees are bound by ethical and legal frameworks, and the service is ISO27001 accredited.

Will Health Assured contact my College or University?

Health Assured provide a confidential service. They won't contact your College or University when you call the SAP helpline.

Will you contact my GP?

In most cases, no. Health Assured would only need to share information if:

- They believed that someone else is at risk of serious harm.
- They were told about acts of terrorism or bomb warnings.
- You asked them to get you help because you can't do this yourself.
- You expressed that you were experiencing thoughts of self-harm or that you were having suicidal thoughts.

Health Assured will always seek your consent before contacting your GP or the emergency services. However, if it is deemed that you are an immediate risk to yourself or others, this may not be possible.
